

Your GIS Introduction Kit will be with you shortly!

AkzoNobel

Tomorrow's Answers Today

You may already be familiar with AkzoNobel's new cross functional offering - Global Image Solutions (GIS).

GIS is a powerful resource that can support any prospect or opportunity where a range of products are required from more than one Business Unit. In particular, GIS focuses on multinational companies who are undergoing a rebranding program and require a variety of product types. In addition, GIS can also bring you valuable leads from other areas of our coatings business and elsewhere - ultimately boosting our coatings sales company-wide.

The GIS Introduction Kit that's coming your way within a week is our next step towards turning a winning concept into even more valuable customers. That's because we're looking for more big names to join the top brands already seeing success with GIS that include Shell, Volvo, Iveco and McDonalds.

Your new GIS Kit will contain a brochure and customizable PowerPoint presentation with movie-clip, that'll be a big help next time you tell the GIS story externally.

Look out for yours - and help us to grow the business. You can find out more about GIS at

We look forward to working with you.

Yours
